Women's Basketball Weekly Blog

February 20, 2017

Hey y'all, this past week was something stellar for your Lady Jackets! We traveled to Kentucky and Tennessee and returned with two huge wins. They were huge because they allowed us to clinch a higher seed (3rd place) in the upcoming G-MAC Tournament.

Monday we walked into the gym with one thing in mind, business. Our fun trip of the season wasn't looked at as fun but strictly as a business trip. We knew if didn't take care of things on the court and put two games away we were going to come home upset and seeded poorly. Our practice was one of great difficulty and pushed us to our limits. The focus was to have focus and perfect the little things. We worked on passing and catching, finishing bunny shots, and rebounding with urgency. We walked away with worn down bodies and aching legs. The next day was no different...We limped into the gym to our lovely coaching staff who tested our limits and pushed us to the max. At the time it was terrible, but looking back we all know those practices were exactly what we needed to get the job done on the road.

Wednesday was a great day, it was travel day! We loaded up our gym bags, downloaded some tunes and hauled our massive book bags onto the bus. Our backpacks were loaded because of all the homework we were going to have to catch up on...They did not contain any snacks, cards, and or movies for our long bus trip (for those who do not pick up on sarcasm easily, we definitely had snacks in our bags). We got to travel on the same charter as the men which was a nice change of pace and ultimately made the trip more enjoyable.

Thursday was business day 1. We arose from our slumber at the crack of dawn (it was actually 8:00 a.m. but it felt real early) and traveled to Kentucky Wesleyan for a shoot around. This was our last chance to brush up on the game plan and polish our skills. We then left the gym for our pre-game meal at Panera where they knew we were a women's basketball team...There was no fooling them into thinking we were a baseball team this time. After our stomachs were satisfied it was back to KWC to clinch a tally for our win column.

We knew this game was going to be a battle but we also knew we could win if we played to the best of our ability and kept our mistakes to a minimum. Folks, I am super pumped to tell you that's exactly what we did. We held Kentucky Wesleyan to a shooting percentage of 29% and played with an incredible sense of togetherness that we had been missing in previous games. Ultimately, we won because we were able to put a little orange ball through an orange circle attached to a sheet of glass more than Kentucky Wesleyan. We ran off the court hooping and hollering so wildly that the men's referees standing by our locker room had to walk away because they were laughing uncontrollably at us.

Friday was another travel day which took us to the state of Tennessee, home of the Trevecca Trojans. We had a light walk through practice with some game planning and then headed to the hotel. We had plenty of time to work on homework and catch up on various Netflix series. After devoting some time to things other than basketball it was time to get dressed up for our night out on the town. Coach of course laughed at us because instead of the expected sweat pants and t-shirts, we strolled out in "actual girl outfits". We only had an hour after to dinner to walk around because we needed to save our legs for the game the next day. Even though we wanted a little more time to explore - an hour wasn't unreasonable. We witnessed some awesome bands, toured some stores and ate some very tasty ice cream (if coach asks, we ate some veggies, got it!).

We got back to the hotel around 8:30 p.m. where we quickly traded our girl outfits in for basketball gear.

Some of us stayed in our rooms while others occupied the lobby and studied. At one point in the night Coach Estep came over to the table Baylee and I were sitting at and gave us a very perplexed look. He asked, "Are you guys doing schoolwork" in complete amazement. We replied with a confused, "yes?". He then chuckled and said, "Man, I wish I had nerds on my team". This was single-handedly the best thing I had heard all week and was an obvious choice for the quote of the week.

Saturday was our last business day of the week. We had to perform or we would not secure the #3 seed and coach would probably make us walk back to Ohio. As you can see, there was a lot riding on the game. The first half was not our best but we managed to go into the locker room with the lead. The second half coach lit a fire under our tails and we played much better. Our shot selection improved, defense stepped up and our mistakes lessened. We walked out with the win and made our coach proud. It had been three years since the women's team returned home with two road wins from the KWC/Trevecca trip. I would like to thank our fantastic cheerleaders for making the trek to Nashville to cheer us on. It was awesome to have some of our peers to take the time out of their day to come and support us.

This week we have two games and they are both being held right here in Cedarville. We will play Salem International on Thursday at 5:30 p.m. This game is also our Breast Cancer Awareness (Play4Kay) game! Saturday we will continue G-MAC play with Ohio Valley at 4:00 p.m. After this game, we will be honoring our lone senior, Christina McQueen.

Jamie Dodane is a 5-foot-7 sophomore guard from Mechanicsburg, Ohio. She is in her second season with the Lady Jackets and is majoring in broadcasting and digital media.
